

EXCITING SCENES AT CAMP M'KENZIE

FIFTEENTH MINNESOTA MEN CAUSE TROUBLE

One of Their Number Killed in a Saloon in Summerville—Arming Themselves, About Seventy-Five Members of the Regiment Started for the Scene of the Killing Determined to Avenge the Death of Their Comrade—Captured After an Exciting Chase.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Camp MacKenzie, Augusta, Ga., Feb. 4.—This has been the most exciting day in the history of the Second army corps and tonight camp life is a very troublesome condition. In this respect it is like a smoldering volcano, and though it is not probable that anything serious will occur, a spark might at any moment provoke an unquenchable flame. The general trouble originated last evening, when Clarence Hadley, a rather irascible character, according to all reports, shot and killed in his saloon in Summerville, Private Dennis O'Connor, Company E, Fifteenth Minnesota, the ball entering the heart and death resulting immediately. The killing was the result of a half-drunken squabble, and from all accounts so far received, both citizens and soldiers severely condemn the act of Hadley as deliberate murder. The news spread rapidly and even last night matters had reached such a condition in the Fifteenth that check-rolls were called several times in order to ascertain if all were present.

This morning affairs reached a climax in that regiment. Nearly two hundred half-drunken men took their guns from their racks and proceeded determinedly to the armory, and against the force executed by the guard, and the protestations of the officers, took picks and axes and burst in the doors. They then smashed the ammunition boxes and threw their axes and picks with cartridges. Colonel Getzlan, with tears in his eyes, and the officers, begged the men to desist. Some obeyed, but others did not listen to reason and brushed aside and even assaulted some of the officers.

THEY MEANT MISCHIEF.

Eventually about seventy-five of them broke through the lines and started on a run toward Summerville and Augusta, either to find Hadley or to break into the county jail, if he were there. Then turmoil ensued. Couriers flew in every direction and in less than five minutes the First Maryland, the Tenth Ohio, Thirty-fifth Michigan, Company C of the Thirtieth and the six troops of the Third cavalry were in line and under arms. The three regiments were ordered to rest on their arms. Across the field was a skirmish line completely cutting off all communications with the ears and preventing the marching of unruly curiosity seekers.

Three troops of the cavalry, the men carrying loaded carbines, started after the rioters with flying speed. They formed a semi-circle right in front of the Minnesotans, who, when they were closed in upon and literally pinned, laid down their arms. They were then marched back to camp as prisoners and afterward to the division guard-house, where they are closely watched by a strong guard, which is armed and instructed to kill in case of trouble. For several hours the cavalry and the regiments of the First brigade scoured the country and city for prisoners, and here and there picked up other prisoners. This evening General Sumner rode through camp, and no officers or men are allowed to go outside of camp on any pretense whatever. All arms have been taken from the Fifteenth Minnesota, and the surrounding country is patrolled by strong guards that are armed to the teeth.

CAVALRYMEN INJURED.

No casualties have resulted excepting a few broken bones among the cavalrymen, some of whom were thrown from their horses in the turmoil. The court-martial will likely convene tomorrow. It is not improbable that the riot will reach its climax.

CATARRH OF STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, but Safe and Effective Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the most thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloated sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and distant lancinating headaches, feeble appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition. The cure of this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the curative condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harrison the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Distaase, Aspartic Pepsin, a little Nux, Gold, and Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Booher, of 210 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the stomach becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities have prescribed for three years for catarrh of the stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found fresh appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

Young children, to avoid marasmus, scrofula, or rickets, and develop healthy tissues, bones and teeth, need fats and hypophosphites. Dr. W. Gilman Thompson, Prof. Materia Medica and Therapeutics, in the University of New York, asserts that Cod-liver Oil is the best fat for the purpose.

Scott's Emulsion is cod-liver oil partly digested and combined with hypophosphites, it gives children material for rich blood, solid flesh, bones and teeth.

a long term of imprisonment and dishonorable discharges.

Four or five members of the Thirteen were taken prisoners, but, being simply led on by curiosity, they may not receive any punishment. The boys have behaved admirably during the excitement and have showed no disposition now to disgrace the regiment. Colonel Courson, Lieutenant Colonel Stillwell and all the other officers have asked the boys to observe order and respect authority. They are doing so. While it is now practically settled that the regiment will be mustered out here, it is also most probable that the men will go home in a body. This seems to be the general sentiment at present, and this arrangement will benefit the boys and at the same time not disappoint those at home who wish to tender the regiment a reception on its return home. This is the arrangement which also suits the boys. Discharge blanks for the regiments have been received from the war department.

First Lieutenant William V. Johnson, of Company A, arrived in camp Wednesday, and the boys of that company with whom he is very popular, gave him a flattering reception. Lieutenant Johnson succumbed to a rather severe attack of typhoid fever at Camp Meade and was taken to the City Hospital, Harrisburg, where he remained for some time. When sufficiently recovered he was given a leave of absence, which was extended later on. For a time Lieutenant Johnson was seriously sick. The members of Company A were delighted to see him return. The popular lieutenant looks to be the perfection of good health.

CAMP GOSSIP.

Private David Watkins, of H, who was absent from his company on account of sickness, and who was treated in the City Hospital, Reading, has returned to camp. He was taken sick on Oct. 16, and was given a furlough on Dec. 26. He says his health is now as good as ever.

Quartermaster Sergeant Isaac Brown has one of the finest and best trained horses in camp.

Sergeant Major William S. Geuld, of the Second battalion, is conducting guard mount every morning for the present week. Sergeant Major McCullough is unable to get around easily, as he is suffering from a sore foot, the ball of the right foot being slightly bruised.

Color Guard Charles Sprandle, of C, has reformed a neat piece of tailoring on the regimental flag which was torn at one corner. A silk patch was sewed on.

Major Fellows is division officer of the day.

INDUSTRIAL JOTTINGS.

Some Facts About the Development of the Railroad Business in the United States.

Notes of Interest.

Here are some facts about railroads which are well worthy of study. While in 1850 there were just 22 miles of railroad in this country, there are now 24,250 miles, including 28,000 miles of yard tracks, sidings and turnouts. At the average value of $60,000 per mile, the 186,500 miles of traveling track are worth $11,191,000,000. It is estimated that one-seventh of the wealth of the United States is represented by the railroads. These roads give employment to 850,000 persons. There are 450 employes to every 100 miles of road, and the total salaries paid show an average to each employe of $565 per annum. During the past year the railroads carried 550,000,000 passengers, for which they received $275,000,000. The roads had to carry a passenger 500 miles to earn $1.

The net earnings of the roads for the year were a little more than $1,000,000 a day. The statistics of the rolling stock contain some valuable figures. There are 1,325,000 cars of all kinds in use. Independently of the requirements of the United States is represented by freight business, 100,000 new freight cars are needed every year to replace those worn out. So rapidly is traffic extending that it is computed that the railroads of this country could use to advantage 200,000 more freight cars than they now have. Of the 25,000 locomotives in use, 10,000 are in passenger service. There are 27 cars to every locomotive, or seven cars to every mile of road.

Each passenger engine handles on an average during the year 50,000 passengers, and each freight engine draws 25,000 tons of freight. The freight traffic of the year represents 95,000,000,000 tons of freight carried one mile. The railroads had to carry a ton of freight 1,320 miles to make $1. One passenger was killed for every 2,250,000 miles of travel, and one passenger was injured in every 4,500,000 miles of travel. Two-thirds of those who were accidentally killed lost their lives at stations, highway crossings and while trespassing upon tracks.

THIS AND THAT.

The largest shaft ever made in the world has just been turned out by the Bethlehem Iron Company, and is having the finishing touches put to it at the company's machine shops. It is for the 8,000 horse-power steam Corliss engine at the Albany street station of the Boston Elevated Railway, in Boston, and weighs 170,000 pounds.

The Mt. Carmel News says that a meeting of the Anthracite Business Men's association, organized for the purpose of compelling the coal-carrying roads to reduce the tonnage rates on anthracite coal, will be held in Hazleton during the current month. The exact date has not yet been announced, neither has a meeting place been selected.

Michael Bulger, of Throop street, an employe of the Pennsylvania Coal company, while at work at No. 1 colliery Saturday was severely burned by escaping steam and water. His left shoulder, side and arm to the fingertips, and the left side of his neck are almost raw. The injured man was removed to his residence and Dr. Gardner called to dress the wounds. So great was Bulger's agony that it was found necessary to administer an anesthetic while the wounds were being dressed.

At the time the accident occurred Bulger was assisting in putting in a new length in the steam pipe. When the length to be removed was unjointed the other length of the pipe sagged down and the scalding steam and water poured out of it onto Bulger, who stood beneath it. He jumped aside, but was too late to entirely escape. The injured man, who is also a patrolman on the Dunmore borough police force, will be unable to attend to his duties for some time.

FUNERALS OF A DAY.

The remains of the late Robert McLaughlin were laid to rest in the family plot at the Dunmore cemetery Saturday afternoon. The funeral was attended by many friends and relatives. The services were held at the residence of Rev. William F. Gibbons, pastor of the Presbyterian church, where he held at the residence on Harper street. After a few comforting friends to the family and friends who had gathered to pay their last respects to the departed, Rev. Gibbons read the fourteenth chapter of the Gospel according to St. John. The floral tributes were numerous. The pall-bearers were Barker Milner, Christopher Vickore, Richard Webber, Sr., John Widner, Adam Robinson and Thomas Glencross.

The funeral of the late Maria Moffatt was held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Swartz, of Shoemaker avenue, Saturday at noon. Poisoned Blood Disagreeable Itching Spread All Over His Body—Sleep Disturbed—Hood's Sarsaparilla Drove Out the Poison and Cured.

"I have been poisoned every summer for years. Last summer the poison came out on me worse than ever before. I would frequently be awakened during the night by the itching. I would scratch myself, but instead of being relieved the trouble spread to different parts of my body. I tried various remedies which people recommended to me, but none of them ever helped me. I made up my mind the poison could not be cured until my blood was pure and then I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. While taking the first bottle I felt relieved from the itching. I kept on taking the medicine and it has entirely cured me. I am now on my fourth bottle and I can sleep soundly at night." WILLIAM BARR, 9128 Westmont Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

BABY'S Terrible ECZEMA

My baby suffered from terrible Eczema. Doctor and every remedy tried, to no account. He cried all the time and his face was like raw meat. I had to carry him on a pillow and was fairly discouraged. I used half a box of CUTICURA (ointment) and CUTICURA SOAP, and in one week my baby was entirely cured. Today his skin is as smooth as silk. Mrs. J. C. FRIESE, 260 1/2 1st St., Brooklyn, N.Y.
